[From Our Own Correspondent]

Canton, To-day.

"China must fight Japan, otherwise our country will be 'swallowed' by our aggressive neighbour," declared Mr. Chou Lou, leading member of the South-west Political faction and Chancellor of Sun Yat-sen University, at a weekly memorial service this morning.

Laying bare Japan's "treble dealing" policy in China, Mr. Chou said:

"Japan's dealing with Nanking amounts to an assurance of support provided the Kuomintang is abolished. To the North China leaders. Japan urges them to overthrow General Chiang Kai-shek and promises assistance in this connection Japan further says that the South-west will join the move in overthrowing General Chiang Kai-shek- To the South-west-Japan also undertakes to give support in unseating General Chiang Kai-shek

"Towards the Powers, Japan tells them to 'lay-off China' and declares that Japan and China are on the best of terms, as all Chinese leaders are friendly to Japan. Hence the Powers Six Great Danes savagely at-should not interfere with Japan's activity in China."

FOR ABYSSINIAN PROTECTORATE

Paris, To-day.

Following the unsatisfactory reply brought by Baron Aloisi from Signor Mussolini to the Anglo-French proposal for the granting to Italy of economic rights in Abyssinia, the three-Power conference adjourned last evening. It is understood that the proposal was conditional on three things:

1. The maintenance of the political independence and territorial integrity of Abyssinia. 2 The agreement of the Abyssinian Govern-

They may bet on the long shots without a conservative thought in their heads, but society women who watch the ponies at fashionable race tracks these days certainly restrain themselves as far as make-up is concerned.

At the picturesque Belmont Park where some of the best names in American society gather to see blue blooded ponies bring fame and fortune to their owners, it is evident that rouge pots are dipped into ever so slightly. It is aparent, too, that the majority of smart spectators have taken seriously the rule about matching powder to your skin. The girls in the "Ladies" Enclosure", are so well powdered that they don't look powdered at all Further more you can tell at a glance that necks have been made up as carefully as faces.

Lipstick And Polish

Lipstick and nail polish, however. in keeping with the new trends in grooming, are as oblvious as rouge and powder are inconspicuous. Lips are scarlet So are the majority of nails. A good many show plainly that they are highly in favour of matching lip-stick to polish.

-One attractive woman I was seen walking briskly along the railing in front of the grandstand wearing a blue, featherweight woollen suit with red hat and buttonniere. Mr. Becker opened his lowest Instrumentalspade from the West hand, and could see that Mr. Sims would not have doubled if holding the guarded Queen of clubs, for he would have been much more likely with that valuable card to remain silent and hope that would finesse into his hand. So grabbed the first trick with the Ace of spades, played the King of clubs, and then led the Jack of clubs and finessed through West for the Queen. The finesse was, of course, successful and we made the Grand Slam, scoring 2,060 points.

That is all of the story, but what is yet to come remains to be seen. When I happen to meet Mr. Sims again, he will remember this ill-advised phychic double, and the next time he doubles me in a Slam I shall expect him to have the Queen, or perhaps he will reason that I will expect him to have the Queen and he will make exactly the same sort of double again. with a view to catching me in the well-known dcuble-cross. PUBLIC ENTHUSIASM GETS FIRST MOVE

NEW $1,000,000 STADIUM BUILT

Shanghai.

WEARY of playing the role of a sleeping giant in the field of International sports, China will make its first serious bid for world athletic recognition at the Olympic Games of 1936. Fifty athletes, selected on the basis of elimination trials, will go to Berlin.

These little representatives of new China will have no illusions about running up a smashing total of points. China got a foretaste of Olympic competition in 1932, when its lone representative at the Los Angeles games failed to qualify-

"We may not capture a single point in the 1936 Olympics." said Dr. C. T. Wang, Yale-educated president of the China National Amateur Athletic Federation, "but by sending a team to Ferlin we will be taking the biggest step yet attempted toward the popularisation of sports in China. A wave of public enthusiasm has swept the country since it was announced that China would be an Olympic contender."

Dr. Wang, who has been closely identified with the development of western-style KHO FIRM sports in China since they were introduced about 30 years ago, believes that China. with a population of 400,000,000 draw upon, will eventually take her place among the world leaders in athletics.

CRICKET AT WHICH ALL MAY SHINE

EVERY PLAYER CAN BE AN EXPERT FIELDER

THROWING AN ESSENTIAL ART

(By H. H. GIBBONS, the Worcester Player)

CONNECTED with the fielding side of cricket is one of the "minor mysteries" which are so difficult to explain. Everybody seems to be agreed, in a general sort of way, that fielding is a very important part of the game. It is in the field that matches are often won and lost. Nobody disputes that.

Yet in spite of this general agreement, the amount of attention given to fielding is, in proportion to the attention given to batting and bowling, comparatively small.

For instance, we hear before the start of every season and even during the season - that this and that lot of players are taking bowling and batting practice; but how seldom we hear of any set of cricketers taking fielding practice.

Again, in regard to the games, the skipper. It must be admitted that neither British nor French circles really expected the conference to succeed. The failure is a bitter blow to M. Laval, who found the Italians too uncompromising for even his remarkable talents as a conciliator.

The position of France is particularly delicate. Although she at one with Britain in defence of the League and the desire to prevent war, she is very loath to endanger the newly-found friendship with Italy, which is so valuable to her in Europe. ...

Future Marvels Of Television

Interesting German Experiments

SUCCESSFUL DEMONSTRATIONS BY POSTAL AUTHORITIES

T the annual session of the Association of German Engi-A neers convened at Hamburg in June a representative of the Reich Postal Department outlined the experimentation carried on since 1928 by the postal authorities in conjunction with leading firms, and reviewed the latest developments in television in a speech which aroused considerable comment even beyoud the immediate circle of experts.

In television broadcast the picture to be reproduced is essentially granular in structure, the granules or elementary areas varying in brilliance according to the light and shade of the object. The image is conveyed by electric circuit, amplified and transmitted. A satisfactory projection of close-ups. that is portraits, can be given already at 10,000 elementary areas.

SUPREME COURT CASE

The trial opened at the Criminal Sessions. Supreme Court, this morning, before Mr. R. E. Lindsell. Puisne Judge, of the case in which an interpreter in the Sanitary Department named Cheng Hing-U. is charged with accepting a bribe of $50 from a pig dealer, Ma Shing, on May 25

The case for the Crown was presented by Mr. W. J. Lockhart-Smith, Assistant' Crown Solicitor, and Mr. H. C. Machamara, instructed by Mr. M. K. Lo, is for the defence.

The jury empanelled to try the case comprised Messrs. G. Duncan istr. (Foreman). Lam Kwong-sit, A. A. D'Averedo. J. A. Johnston. J. R. Paton. B. C. de Jongs and L. S. Castro.

Mr. Lockhart-Smith 'said that although the sum involved was small, it was a serious matter as it strikes at the very root of Government. It was equally serious to the accused, as his reputation as well as his future employment in . Government service were in the balance.

Case For Crown

The case for the Crown was that on May 15 of this year a pig dealer named Ma Shing was fined $25 at the magistracy for keeping swine without a licence. He was further ordered to dispose of the animals within three days. The prosecution was brought at the instigation of a Sanitary Inspector who is unfortunately now on Home leave. The accused is an interpreter, and one of the witnesses, besides keeping pigs, has a shop and lives at No. 123 Nan Chean Street, Shamshuipol

On the Saturday after the fine was imposed Ma Shing met the accused outside the Sanitary office at 105 Taipo Road, and it appeared to him that the accused had some sort of communication to make. Ma Shing is not a native of Hong Kong. Accused asked if the pigs had been disposed of and on receiving a reply in the negative told Ma Shing, that Sanitary Inspector would be making a call on him the following hands on this occasion, but wher Monday, the pigs were nowhere to be seen

Money Handed Over

Together with a friend to act as interpreter. Ma Shing met the accused later in a restaurant and the sum of $50 was handed over to him in four $10 notes and two $5 notes.

Mr. Lockhart-Smith asked the jury to consider the intelligence of the witnesses and their demeanour in the witness box.

Mr. W. M. Thomson, first clerk at the Kowloon Magistracy, was the first witness called and he produced records to show that Ma-Shing was fined $25 for keeping pigs without a licence and ordered to remove the pigs within three days.

In reply to Mr. Macnamara witness stated that according to the records there were 301 pigs, and Ha Shing had been a dealer for 10 Tears.

Mr. A. K. Taylor, Chief Sanitary Inspector, was called, and deposed to having taken a statement from Ma Shing after having received a complaint on May 29. No one was present when he had taken the statement. It was taken in -Cantonese, but, although he made himself understood, Ma Shing was an imperfect Cantonese speaker.

Dealer's Evidence

Ma Shing then took the witness box, and stated that he was 55 years of age and had come to the Colony from Swatow.

He knew the accused and had met him three days after he had appeared at the Magistraey. in the Ling Yeung restaurant On their way there they had picked up one of his friends to act as interpreter. His name was Lui Shek-shui. Accused told him to remove the pigs, as the inspector was coming on Monday. He had paid him no money but had promised to make a payment the following Saturday.

> Appearing for the prosecution, ance. Inspector Chester-Woods stated that accused came from the Sai Kung district, New Territories. A school-teacher from the same istrict gave accused a list of three books, which he asked accused to purchase. Accused entered complainant's shop yesterday and on presenting the list to the complainant also placed a dollar on the counter. Complainant went to the back of the shop to get the books, and gave them to accused and stated that they would cost 20 cents. Accused, it was alleged, then told the complainant that he had given him a dollar when he entered the shop, and demanded 80! cents change.

Complainant denied that he had received the dollar whereupon accused offered to allow himself to be searched. In the course of the search, the tin milk was found in accused's bag. but no money was found in his pockets. Accused also had a piece of dough in his possession, and on it being opened the miss-

TO-MORROW'S STORY

To-morrow's story will be "The Frill by Pearl S. Buck.

Through the five years' separation they had kept up a desultory correspondence. Athol writing of his work, his success, the eminent people he met; Jeanette telling him of the little, insignificant details of her home life, her days' teaching, the birth and growth of the Worthing Players. Of her writing she said little . . . there was little to say. "I'm just practising," she told him.

Even now, unless he had learned it from some other source, he knew nothing of the truth. She had told him merely that she was acting in a play called "Moon ! Magic." . . . As to its authorship she had said nothing. He had replied, expressing interest and promising to be there. That was all Now she could only want.

There were to be two performances. The first . . a kind of try-out at Windy Hill, a small town some ten miles from Worthing; the second, a week later, in The death has occurred of Bt the "Players" bome town. Athol was to be at both.

Jeanette, suffering acutely from stage fright, tried to comfort herself with the reflection that the (Princess Mary) in 1922.—Reuter. Scientific Aids

Additions to the administrative staff have also been involved by the development of scientific aids to police work. It follows that the New Scotland Yard building. designed for the needs of 1890, is no longer adequate for the work at headquarters.

The finger-print system had already been introduced to Scotland Yard by Sir Edward Henry in 1901, superseding the Bertillon anthropometric system. The Commissioner, in his report of 1910, says. "It is apparent that the highwater mark has now been reached, and it is unlikely that the number of identifications during the year will be surpassed." It is always rash to prophesy, however, and in 1934 there were 21,-573 identifications from fingerprints, about double the figures of 1910. Altogether, there are now over 500,000 sets of prints in he cabinets of Scotland Yard

The year 1910 saw the supersession of police rowing-boats by 10 motor-boats on the Thames. In the same year the use of pedalbicycles by police on duty was authorised and was regarded as a valuable asset for greater mobility. The Force boasted four motor-cars and eight motor despatch vans.

Telephones Substituted

were substituted for telegraph instruments, and it was considered a matter for congratulation that nearly all police stations support Jeanette MacDonald and were by then connected with the Nelson Eddy are Frank Morgan Fate, in the person of Jimmy, public telephone exchange.

GERMAN ECONOMIC SITUATION

MOMENTOUS SPEECH BY DR. SCHACHT

CHANGE IN TRADE-RELATIONS

Koenigsberg, To-day.

A speech of the greatest significance on the German economic situation was given by the President of the Reichsbank and well-known economist, Dr. Hugo Schacht, on the occasion of the opening of the 23rd German International Fair here yesterday. Added importance was given to the ceremony by the presence of the Finance Minister, Count Schwerin von Krosigk, as well as a number of diplomatic representatives of the Central European States.

Dr. Schacht began by stressing the Government's interest in the welfare of East Prussia, and brought greetings on behalf of Herr Hitler, in whose name and spirit, he said, German unity throws out ever stronger roots.

"What makes my visit to-day specially enjoyable." continued Dr. Schacht, "is the fact that on former occasions I have had to speak to you mostly of our anxieties, whereas this time, despite all the anxieties we still have, many of which unfortunately we make for ourselves, my visit is accompanied by a feeling of pleasure and hope."

from abroad at this year's fair. Schacht, "it cannot remain 2 pressing deep regret at the death, Dr. Schach: went on to say: "At matter of unconcern for any of of Mr. Gareth Jones, declare that a time when certain circles in us. particularly not for me as Mr. Jones and Dr. Mueller were foreign countries are pleased to the Minister responsible for warned by the Chinese authoridescribe every window-pane maintaining the German economic ties in Kalgan that bandits were broken in Germany as a dis-machinery in working order: rampant in Inner Mongolia.
